YALE AND TIGERS ON TRAIL OF EACH OTHER

Both Elevens Run Through Signals and Rest Up for Hard Work To-day.

KETCHAM STICKS TO END

Lamberton and "Stew" Baker to Fight It Out for Shea's Place on the Eleven at Princeton.

New Haven, Nov. 10.—Yale's football team began work this afternoon for the Princeton game next Saturday with a signal and formation drill.

The only changes from Saturday's line-up against Brown were Cornell for Ainsworth at left half and Pendleton for Warren at right tackle. Warren, however, was in his place part of the time, and probably will start the Princeton game, as Pendleton's knee is still weak. The latter will be rushed into the battle if Bill Warren can't fight off Phillips, Princeton's left tackle.

"Bud" Wiser's ankle is still in bad condition, so that he will not be able to play on Saturday. That will leave Tommy Cornell and Ainsworth to contend for left half. Dunn's work at fullback against Brown apparently has won him the place. His line plunging was a feature of the game.

Carroll Knowles punted constantly and wasn't called on to drive through on line smashes, as he has been most of the season. Dunn had the bulk of this work to do and showed the ground-gaining ability that won him a "Y" on Arthur Howe's team.

Wilson was at quarter this afternoon. Way, Marting and Robinson were the centre trio, while Captain Ketcham played end. Russell Cooney's knee is still bothering him, so that Robinson is expected to hold the right guard place on Saturday.

"Pie" Way's showing at guard indicates that Captain Ketcham can be spared in that position and kept at end, where his speed and powerful tackling can be used to better advantage. Carter and Braun, Yale's most aggressive ends, will not start against Princeton, while Hal Puppely's chances look mighty slim, as he is still limping.

In the practice to-day, Dr. Bull put the third team through the Princeton formations against the "varsity." The first team line was coached in shifts to cope with similar shifts by the Tigers.

Ketcham, Guernsey and Knowles practiced placement and drop kicks. With Puppely and Markle out, Otis Guernsey is the only dependable drop kicker on the squad. He is likely to be called on for a field goal on Saturday. Toward the close of the first half of the Brown game one of his tries from the 46-yard line flew straight for the goal posts, but just failed to clear the bar.

In practice to-day he scored consistently on the 25, 30 and 35-yard marks and got his kicks off quickly.

Signal Drill for Tigers.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10.—While the "varsity" football team took only the lightest work or rested this afternoon, the squad of Princeton coaches turned their attention to developing a good prototype of the Yale eleven from the best material they could pick from the scrub, the inviolable men and the freshmen, who closed their season last Saturday with a victory over the Yale Cubs.

Work did not lag, but the regulars did little, as they did not return to Princeton from Atlantic City, where they rested over Sunday, until noon.

The freshman field was the scene of business this afternoon, for it was there that the coaches picked their dummy Yale team and drilled it in the plays disclosed up to date by the Blue.

The "varsity" trotted through signals for nearly an hour along the sides and corners of the field, where the turf was firmer. Captain Hober Baker did a little drop kicking from the 30 and 35 yard lines, and with far more success than in the Harvard game.

"Stew" Baker was at end in Shea's place for the signal drill. Andrews would not say who stood first in line for the varsity wing position, but he intimated that it would be a close fight between Lamberton and Baker for the preference.

The change of air and scene afforded by the trip to Atlantic City has brought the men around in fine fettle for the preparation to beat Yale next Saturday, and they are determined to end their season with a victory.

To make the drill against Yale formations to-morrow as real as possible, blue jerseys will be provided for all the players on the mock Yale team. Scrimmage will be unchecked to-morrow, but it will be the only hard one of the week.

CORNELL TEAM ON CARPET

Sharpe Not Pleased at Showing Against Michigan.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 10.—General disappointment over the showing of the Cornell team in the Michigan game was displayed in Ithaca to-day.

Dr. Sharpe gave his team the usual Monday afternoon blackboard talk and ordered no practice at all. It was understood that at the meeting the coaches gave the squad a severe talk, pointing out the faults of Saturday's game, and outlining plans for the coming week.

Because many of the veterans on the team have been showing poorly of late, Dr. Sharpe announces that this week will be one of experimentation. He intends to shift the men around to new positions and give some of the promising scrubs a try-out on the "varsity." All the time is now to be spent in preparing a team which will give Penn a hard fight, and to this end all coaches are now bending their efforts.

Final word was received to-day from O'Hearn, the star end, stating that he will be unable to play any more this season on account of his eye injury. The team as a whole has come out of the game in good condition.

TEXAS ELEVEN CLAIMS TITLE.

Houston, Tex., Nov. 10.—The University of Texas claimed the Southwestern football championship for 1913 to-night as a result of a victory over the University of Oklahoma by a score of 14 to 6 here to-day.

REST FOR HARVARD TEAM

Mahan Only One of Regulars to Report at the Field.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—Eddie Mahan was the only Harvard football player who took part in an appearance on Soldiers' Field this afternoon. He came down to practice punting, for he is just beginning to master the high twists that Houghton is teaching and he wants to be right for the Yale game two weeks hence.

The other "varsity" men and substitutes who helped make Harvard's 3 to 0 score down in Jersey took the entire day off, but all hands will be out bright and early to-morrow afternoon to begin preparation for Yale.

The Crimson men came out of the Princeton game in excellent physical condition. Gilman, the left tackle, sustained a severe muscle bruise on his leg, and possibly will not do much work for a day or two, but will be ready for the Brown game, the coaches are sure.

Cowan, the left guard, also was pretty much used up, and there is some doubt whether he will retain his place. Mills has been coming along fast, and as the chances are in favor of his playing part of the Yale game he is likely to start in Cowan's place at left guard against Brown.

Trumbull is another man regarding whom the coaches have no little concern. He could play, but is not right, and it now looks as if he would be nursed along so that he surely will be in physical trim to get into the Yale game at the start. Trumbull not only is aggressive himself, but infuses Harvard's entire rush line with life and ginger.

As a result of the Princeton game Captain Storer will stay at end, as Hitchcock is expected to strike his usual late-season stride this week at tackle.

SOCCER FAR TOO EXCITING.

St. Louis, Nov. 10.—Overwhelmed by the excitement of a soccer football game, at which he was cheer leader, Ramon Garcia, a Spaniard, collapsed here yesterday afternoon and died a few minutes later.

The contest was between the Spanish club of Carondelet, a suburb, and a team from Concordia Seminary.

Football Teams Nearing Last Laps of Practice on Many Gridirons

Coaches Whipping Dartmouth Into Condition for Clash with Carlisle Indians on the Polo Grounds.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 10.—Dartmouth is preparing to play the hardest game of the Green schedule this coming Saturday. Glen Warner admitted to Cavanaugh, after the Pennsylvania-Dartmouth game, that he had the best team at Carlisle he has had for years. Dartmouth coaches are sparing no energy to whip the Green into condition to meet the Indians.

The practice to-day consisted of the most part in a blackboard talk by Cavanaugh, in which he enumerated the various mistakes made, both in the line and in the backfield. The secondary defense was largely responsible for Penn's last two touchdowns, and the men were shown wherein they erred. Dartmouth expects to meet in the Indians a team that will use the forward pass to the limit and in every conceivable manner. The team spent considerable time to-day in working against the Carlisle forward pass formations.

For the last month Dartmouth's games have required the making of long trips. This has made it impossible for the players to get more than three weeks' practice on Alumni Oval, and the coaches find it difficult in so short a period to work on opponents' formations. The remainder of this week probably will be spent in signal practice and night work in the baseball cage.

Quakers Aiming at Michigan.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—The University of Pennsylvania football team began preparations to-day for the game with Michigan at Ann Arbor next Saturday.

With the exception of Minds, who was somewhat used up in the Dartmouth game last Saturday, all the players are in good condition. Minds will report for practice to-morrow.

The "varsity" went through a long, hard secret practice behind closed gates on Franklin Field. No scrimmage was indulged in, but there was some "shadow" charging and lots of punting by the backs. Much attention was given to the ends, who are not quite up to the average.

The Pennsylvania players will leave here on Wednesday at noon for Detroit, where they will be the guests of the Detroit Country Club until Saturday morning.

Wesleyan Squad Goes on Hike.

Middletown, Conn., Nov. 10.—Despite the grueling contest on Saturday with Williams, the Wesleyan men came out of the fray in fine condition. No practice was held this afternoon, but the men went on a five-mile hike with Billy Hunter. To-morrow practice will be resumed preliminary to the game with New York University on Saturday.

Wesleyan has only one contest after this remaining on the schedule—Trinity at Hartford.

Williams Prepares for Amherst.

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 10.—The Williams football squad entered on its last lap of practice here this afternoon, when it began its preparations for the final struggle against Amherst on Saturday. The workout was begun in the baseball cage, but darkness forced the men to leave the practice on the floor of the Leslie gymnasium.

The drill was secret. None of the men were injured in the Wesleyan game, and his same line which was used last Saturday ran through signals and formations this afternoon.

Stevens at Secret Practice.

The Stevens Technology football team engaged in secret practice on Castle Point Field yesterday afternoon.

The men were in good condition after last Saturday's game, and went through a driving practice under the direction of Fuller and Saunders, the coaches. Captain Stretch, however, was excused. Van Benschoten, who played halfback on last year's team, appeared on the field for the first time this season.

Few Brown Regulars Out. Providence, Nov. 10.—About half of the regular Brown football squad came out to Andrews Field this afternoon for what proved to be little more than a nominal practice.

Four or five of the first string men were rather stiff after Saturday, and the afternoon was confined to a long signal drill, with substitutes filling the backfield positions. McNeill, Fraser and Casey were the ones who felt the effects of the grueling struggle with Yale, but none of their injuries are regarded as serious.

The substitute backfield, consisting of Andrews, Chandler, Hicks and Blue, got an opportunity to learn the signals and otherwise to get in trim to jump into the game at any time.

Andrews, because of his fine work in the Yale game, will probably be used regularly in the remaining games. Henry and Gardner showed skill in using the forward pass.

Lafayette Eleven Limbers Up.

Easton, Penn., Nov. 10.—Lafayette has

Football Gossip from the Eastern College Gridirons

Meeting of Dartmouth and Indians at Polo Grounds Arousing Much Interest.

While Yale and Princeton are doing battle at New Haven next Saturday other games of much interest will divide attention, chief of which perhaps will be the meeting at the Polo Grounds in this city of Dartmouth and the Carlisle Indians. This game will whet the appetite of football lovers here for the Army-Navy struggle on November 29 at the home of the Giants. The Indians, who always boast of a good team under the coaching of Glen Warner, are strangely picturesque and attractive on the gridiron, and they can be counted on to give the men from Hanover, conquerors of Princeton and Pennsylvania, a hard, stubborn fight. Except for the counter stubhorn fight, the Wesleyan men came out of the fray in fine condition.

No practice was held this afternoon, but the men went on a five-mile hike with Billy Hunter. To-morrow practice will be resumed preliminary to the game with New York University on Saturday.

Wesleyan has only one contest after this remaining on the schedule—Trinity at Hartford.

SCHOOL FOOTBALL AT ITS HIGH WATER MARK

Big Crowd Sure to See Poly and Adelphi Teams in Action on Friday.

INVITATIONS HARD TO GET

Another Double-Header To Be Played at Ebbets Field Next Saturday, Which Promises Well.

The game of the week in scholastic football will be the annual meeting of Polytechnic Preparatory School and Adelphi Academy at Ebbets Field on Friday afternoon. Twenty-five thousand invitations have been sent out, but so great is the interest in this struggle that many requests for tickets have been refused.

Football of the best should be seen when the referee's whistle puts the ball in play. Adelphi has swung along, wading through all opponents without a reverse until Princeton Prep. School put a temporary check in the winning streak. That one setback in no way affected the power of the team, as was clearly shown last Saturday, when Boys' High School was defeated by a score of 15 to 0.

Steve McHale, the Princeton star of former years, is in charge of Adelphi. He has rounded out a well balanced, powerful eleven that is carefully drilled in the fundamentals of the game. This knowledge of the finer arts and the presence of several individual stars make the Brown and Gold feared and respected on the field.

Developed by Billy Siegrist, the Poly team has been pointed toward this one game above all others. Last year Adelphi, led by Eddie Briggs, won a thrilling battle by a score of 12 to 6, but Poly declares that this time the Blue and Gray will win.

This will be one of the "big" weeks in scholastic football. Nine games will be played, and the greater number of these will have a bearing on the so-called championship. Second to none in importance will be the annual meeting of Manual Training and the High School of Commerce at Ebbets Field on Saturday. Manual, smarting under the sting of defeat at the hands of De Witt Clinton, will hurl its attack at the Orange and Blue line in a mad endeavor to batter it down and eliminate Commerce from a chance of high rating.

The Commerce team, while not up to the standard of last year's eleven, is made up of fighters. The attack is built around the forward pass, for the backfield, all too tight, has not shown the ability to play a line backing game.

The Commerce-Manual game will be the important half of another double-header, for in the first game Erasmus Hall and Boys' High will try conclusions.

A week of comparative ease is in store for the De Witt Clinton eleven. Games with Morris and Commerce are coming, but Dave Hooks is well pleased with his team and will run no risk of driving boys state. While he is not overconfident, Hooks believes that his team will out through the rest of the season unchecked and for the second time in three seasons win the championship.

Commerce, on the other hand, will be driven to the end in the effort to get the team up to standard. There are a number of glaring fundamental weaknesses which must be overcome if great deeds are to be accomplished. The linemen fail to move with the ball, and they play a parlor game. With the exception of "Tiger" De Boer and Montgomery the forwards are evidently afraid of hurting an opponent, and the result is that many precious yards are lost through lack of aggressiveness.

There is a structural weakness also in the Commerce team in the lack of a capable punter. Gene Quinn is doing all that is to be asked of a first-year man, but for some unknown reason his punts have not the second time on the field. On the fake played on the Albright game a tendency to run toward his own goal, and no end of coaching has made him start down the field when he clears the ends.

The Erasmus Hall eleven went through a hard signal and formation drill on the Parade Grounds, at Prospect Park, yesterday afternoon. Logan, the Princeton guard, who won a place on Walter Camp's All-America team, devoted his time to the linemen, while Gorsch worked with the backs. The forwards proved apt scholars, and putting into practice the tricks shown them by Logan, soon ripped gaping holes in the scrub line.

Captain Ty Halstead is still out of the game and is likely to remain out for some time to come. He has a torn hamstring in his ankle. If he is able to get back Gorsch undoubtedly will play him at guard, his old position. Paul Castellanos will play fullback and start the game against Boys' High in that position. Webb, who played on Boys' High last year, ripped and tore his way through the line yesterday, seemingly unstopable, while he punted in rare style as well. Olson and Tuttle were in fine form and stood out for their all-around work.

Heinsohn, the Clinton quarterback, showed to the satisfaction of those who saw him in the Manual game that he is without an equal among the local team.

McGuinness, the Stuyvesant field general, has worked wonders with his team. A born fighter, but prone to bad cases of "rattles" early in the season, he has settled down in admirable style, and gets the best out of the material at hand. He played sterling football throughout the Commerce game.

Another player who is standing forth for the brilliancy of his play is Jimmy Meenan, the fiery halfback of Poly Prep. Meenan can plunge with terrific force, is clever at running in a broken field and is a power in the secondary line of defense.

Townes, the right halfback of the Commerce Cubs, and his team mate, Walter Gunther, are regarded as two of the most promising men in the school. They are playing their first season of high school football, but have taken to the sport as a duck to water.

George Smith, captain of the Central High School eleven of Newark, has developed into one of the best scholastic tackles in New Jersey. Not alone is he a terrific plunger, but he can kick with the best, and runs with the ball in faultless style.

Charles Mack Wins Trot on the Brooklyn Speedway.

Henry Smith, an amateur driver, outwitted two professionals when he piloted his bay gelding Charles Mack to victory in the special trotting race at the postponed meeting of the Brooklyn Pleasure Drivers' Association, on the Ocean Parkway Speedway, yesterday.

Frank Small, sitting behind King Adolbon and "Rube" Smith, who handled Prince A., a brown gelding, opposed Henry Smith. Charles Mack captured three of the four heats.

Dr. Threut, owned by Bert Hall; Ridge-wood, a bay gelding; and Nettie Direct, a black mare, met in the pacing event, and the first named won in straight heats, in 1:11 and 1:10.

Convicts Play Real Baseball

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 10.—Folsom Penitentiary convicts defeated Christian Brothers College, of Sacramento, by a score of 2 to 1, in a baseball game played at the penitentiary yesterday.

It was said to be the first game ever played between a penitentiary team and an outside nine. Convict No. 6,092 pitched effectively for Folsom, and his work was cheered by eleven hundred of his fellows.

GIANTS TURN AND BEAT WHITE SOX BY A RUN

Homer by Meyers Starts New York Team on Road to Victory Before Big Crowd.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 10.—Six thousand spectators witnessed the game between the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants here this afternoon at Athletic Park, which resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 4 to 2.

In the first inning Meyers, of the Giants, with the first hit of the game, sent the ball over the fence. Twice the White Sox pulled a double play, but the hitting and runs failed to create much tension in the assembled crowd.

Local "fans" were doomed to disappointment in the matter of seeing Christy Mathewson in the pitcher's box for the Giants. Hearn pitched for the New York team and Scott for Chicago. Another disappointment was the absence of Sam Crawford and Hal Chase, who are reported held up for repairs at Los Angeles.

The cramped quarters of the field made it extremely difficult to do any fast playing, and on one occasion when making a two-bagger one of the players upset four bystanders.

The score follows:

MORRISTOWN BEATS STONE

Wendell Leads Attack and Team Wins by Good Margin.

Morristown defeated Stone School by a score of 27 to 6 in a loosely played game at Morristown, N. J., yesterday.

Led in a smashing attack by Wendell, brother of the famous Harvard player, who had capable aids in Devittals and Clement, Morristown plunged its way up and down the field. Stone School fought pluckily, but lacked the strength to check the onslaughts of the winners.

ARMY ELEVEN UNSCATHED

Coaches, Pleased with Showing of Men, Allow Day of Rest.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The Army emerged from the Albright game on Saturday without an injured player. There are some sore spots and bruises, but on the whole of the cadets came through unscathed.

The weekly blackboard talk took place in the "gym" this afternoon, but there was little criticism of the team's showing by the coaches. The big Navy scores are causing little worry in the Army's camp. The cadets will go on with their preparations for the middies with renewed confidence. Hard scrimmage is on the card for to-morrow.

The Army went through the Albright game without Benedict, Markoe and Huston in the line-up. None of these men is in condition to play, and their work this week will be of the lightest nature. Hobb's splendid open field play and good punting were especially pleasing to the mentors, and the work of Milburn and Hodgson was encouraging.

The line, too, showed plenty of fight and aggressiveness.

Navy Squad Goes for a Long Walk.

Annapolis, Nov. 10.—There were no injuries among the Navy football players as a result of Saturday's game against Bucknell, and the squad reported on the field this afternoon in full strength, with the exception of Leonard, who is still nursing an old hurt to his knee. Leonard is expected to be in a part of the game Saturday against Pennsylvania State. While it was generally expected that State would not prove as hard an opponent as Bucknell, the Navy coaches will not take any chances and will prepare the team for a hard game.

There was a long infantry drill this afternoon, and such a short period remained for practice that the coaches took the squad on a "cross-country" walk, which occupied the whole period. During the walk the players were told about the mistakes in Saturday's game and the work that would be required during the week. The coaches will have to decide shortly whether Mitchell or Nicholls will occupy the quarterback's position.

SUBSTITUTES WANT NUMERALS

The substitute members of the Columbia 1913 freshman crew who rowed at Poughkeepsie last year petitioned the athletic council yesterday for numerals.

The substitutes put in their four weeks at Poughkeepsie and rowed twice a day in the second crew, but when the insignia were passed out they received no recognition at all, although in former years all substitutes received their class numerals.

The members of the crew itself received the numerals with crossed oars.

TY COBB INSISTS HE JUST LOVES DETROIT

Wants to End His Playing Days with the Tigers, So He Says.

SENDS LETTER TO NAVIN

Bobby Carter Bold Enough to Predict a Pennant and Even More for the Brooklyn Team.

Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit Tigers, has taken time by the forelock and throttled one of the most fertile topics of winter baseball gossip that falls to the lot of the starving "fans." He gave out a letter from Ty Cobb yesterday in which the star outfielder says that he hopes he will end his baseball days in Detroit.

Tyrus has rarely failed to enliven the dull months with the choicest tidbits of scandal. No sooner is the playing season over than a search begins for a new berth for the Georgia Peach, any place on the map seemingly being preferable to Detroit. A year ago he began firing broadsides at Navin and the Detroit club which did not cease until two weeks after the season opened, when Cobb finally signed his contract.

In order to forestall all this, Navin has made public the mischievous from the star, which declares that Ty is anxious to play in Detroit as long as the management of the club and the public are willing to have him.

"I am entirely satisfied with conditions and I want to end my playing days in Detroit," says Ty. "The fans have treated me fine and I want to be loyal to my club. The understanding we reached pleased me immensely, and I will surely give my heart to playing with Detroit next year. I certainly do not want to change."

"The understanding" referred to concerned Cobb's salary for 1914. Mr. Navin has intimated that the Georgian will receive the largest salary ever paid to a player in the history of baseball. Evidently there will be no dispute over the terms this year when Ty signs, and as he seems satisfied with Detroit the Winter League is robbed of its most conspicuous figure. Still, he may get in the news before April 15 rolls around.

With Cobb out of it, Murphy in Europe and McGraw headed for the Orient, it looks like the dulllest campaign for years. The lopping off of Horace Fogel was felt keenly last season, and now three of the leading wits have gone. The annual meeting of the American League is already out of the way. Luckily, the National League is in a turmoil over the presidency and the Baseball Fraternity is
